FUTURE TVA WORK HALTED BY COURT

Gore Stops U. S. From
'Expansion or Extension' But Permits Completion of Those Begun.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP) Delaying indefinitely a final ruling on the constitutionality of PWA loans and grants for publicly-owned hydroelectric plants, the supreme court today sent a test case back to lower courts for further action.

Secretary Ickes, the public works administrator, commented that "the result of this technical decision will mean further delay in construction on some half hundred PWA power projects, in the event that private power interests persist in dilatory tactics."

The test litigation which the high tribunal returned to the western South Carolina federal district court was the suit of the Duke Power Company against a proposed $2,852,000 Public Works loan and grant to Greenwood county, South Carolina, for an electric plant at Buxton Root.

The justices said the district court and the circuit court of appeals at Charlotte, N. C., had "failed to act in accordance with the standards of proper procedure." The case is to be started anew.

At the same time the TVA was losing in a federal court at Nashville, Tenn., where Judge John J. Gore ruled the TVA could complete transmission facilities already started but could not put them into use for carrying current to municipalities. He also enjoined TVA from further "expansion or extension of activities."

Russian Sets Record On Miami-Havana Hop

HAVANA, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Major Alexander P. De Seversky set a new speed record for amphibian planes from Miami to Havana today, but almost cracked up as he landed.

Coming down from Miami's Columbia airport after a 220-mile flight which took 1 hour and 14 minutes, De Seversky's huge monoplane took one bounce into the air, dipped its right and then its left wing into the grass and finally landed.

"We almost went into a ground loop," De Seversky said.

His top speed for the trip was 230 miles an hour and he bucked headwinds all the way, the Russian pilot asserted.

Lifesavers went to the rescue of distressed fishing smacks and other small craft.

The 5,000-ton steamer Zinal collided with the Newgate lightship in the North Sea. Other vessels ran ashore.

TROOPS ARE RUSHED TO RESCUE OF CHIANG

his wife, "I am well," do not worry over my safety."

The news agency said that in his first communication to the outside world since was captured Saturday in a coup by Marshal Chang Hsuehliang, the generalissimo did not disclose the situation in Sianfu, where he was detained.

Madame Chiang Kai-shek, to whom the message was sent, returned yesterday by plane from a supposed trip to Loyang, where it was understood she had gone to assist in negotiations for the release of her husband.

(Madame Chiang, the former Mei Long-soon, is the Wellesley-educated sister-in-law of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen, "father of the Chinese republic." Nanking leaders expressed hope that their display of force would persuade Marshal Chang to surrender his cap-tire, Kai-shek, head of the Chinese government.

While the Nanking government sought a compromise with Chang they tightened their cordon of loyal divisions around rebellious Chiang province where Chiang was held.

Officials said they believed Chiang might be restored to leadership and further bloodshed averted.

Chiang, Chinese generalissimo, was seized Saturday at Sianfu by his subordinate, Marshal Chang, who at the same time broadcast a demand the Nanking government declare war on Japan.

Situation Is Grave.

The nature of the proposed compromise was not revealed, but it was stated that Yu Jen, head of the control yuan of the central government, was at Loyang, Honan province, working to negotiate the obtaining of General Chang's freedom.

Nanking officials made no effort to minimize the gravity of the crisis, which some considered the most dangerous confronting China since the beginning of the Nationalist movement more than a decade ago.

These officials said the first task of the government was to demonstrate the nation's unity and show to all how Marshal Chang had erred when he thought he could divide the country by raising the standard of revolt, issuing his call for war against Japan and defining the Nationalists as rebels. They asserted telegrams continued to come in from leaders in all sections of China proclaiming their loyalty to the Nanking regime.

Authorities here disclosed that Marshal Chang had been scheduled to depart from Sianfu Saturday, presumably for Shensi, the rebellious province for which he was relinquishing his "Communist suppression" command in Shensi. A special train was waiting for him. Instead of taking it in obedience to General Chang's orders he carried out his speculate.

Rush Troops to Scene.

The extent of the government's concentration of military strength against Marshal Chang in Shensi was shown by the departure of at least 25,000 troops within the last 24 hours from Nanking, more than 800 miles by rail from the seat of trouble.

At the same time, 10 or more loyal divisions stationed in provinces adjacent to Shensi when the rebellion broke out were converging rapidly on the frontier of that province, from Kansu on the west, Suiyuan on the north and Honan on the east.

The disclosure reinforced the belief of many that China is facing a disastrous civil war, especially since it was reported that Marshal Chang

Part Time Job.

Q. While attending college, I am working in a store on Saturdays, but plan to teach next year, after receiving my degree. Can I qualify for S. S. A. benefits? M. H.

A. Internal revenue regulations provide that "casual labor," that is labor which is occasional, incidental or irregular, but which is in the course of the employee's trade or business, does not qualify for S. S. A. benefits except under the act of "casual labor." Persons working in included employment, although working only part time, as explained above, should file application for employee's account number. When a person leaves such casual employment and becomes regularly employed, it is only necessary that he advise his new employer of his account number with the Social Security Board and the employer will make the required deductions, and they will be credited to his account.

Q. I am a widow 47 years old, supporting an aged mother and a daughter unable to work. I rent furnished rooms and do dressmaking. Is there any way I can secure aid from S. S. A.?—L. K. B.

A. Self employers, that is, persons who offer their services to the public as independent contractor, are not eligible for benefits under the Social Security Act.

Pay Roll Size Not Factor.

Q. I work for a firm with only four employees. Does the S. S. A. affect us? Is it a small company exempt? —J. T.

A. Georgia has no unemployment insurance act. The federal act specifies eight or more employees for purposes of federal excise tax for unemployment insurance. For purposes of federal age retirement benefits every employee of four months is required to report these employees, except the required percentage from each increment of wages paid the employee, and send it to the Collector of Internal Revenue. Each employee is required to fill out an "application for account number" and file it with the local postmaster.

Q. Are employees of the Warm Springs Foundation at Warm Springs, Ga., included in the S. S. A.?—M. M. T.

A. Section 811 (B) of the act exempts from old-age benefits all persons under the age of 65 who are not in the employ of a corporation, community chest, fund or foundation or ganized and operated for religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational purposes—no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual. Internal Revenue regulations provide that "in all cases in order to establish its status under the statutory classifications, the organization must meet two tests: (1) It must be organized and operated exclusively for one or more of the specified purposes; and (2) its net income must not inure, in whole or in part, to the benefit of private shareholders or individuals." The Social Security Board advises that where any doubt exists the facts in the case be submitted to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, D. C., for a special ruling.

Card for Unemployed.

Q. I am 58 years old, not at present employed. How shall I proceed to secure a Social Security card and number?—M. V. W.

A. Application blank may be secured from the postoffice, filled out and returned there.

Q. I am 60 years old and a farmer. —S. J.

A. Farmers and farm labor are not included in the S. S. A. benefits.

TANKS OF INSURGENTS REPULSED BY MADRID

Capital Defenders Prepare for Long Siege and Send 300,000 Away.

MADRID, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Sluggish Fascist tanks smashed at Madrid suburbs to no avail today as militia defenders hastened transfer of women and children from the wind-swept and hungry Spanish capital.

Sixty thousand men, women and children were escorted to warmer and safer areas during the past week, the military announced. Of these 30,000 were children.

The council chamber has been scrubbed and polished until it is spotlessly clean and the mayor's office has been done over. Glenn Dewberry, building superintendent, said erection of a platform in the council chamber will be started immediately. Redirection of council from the 18th floor to the 19th floor of the desk seats in the council chamber being removed and stored, Dewberry said.

The Insurgent tanks rumbled into northwestern University City and charged at government lines for two hours, too long to be considered a retreat.

—Winnipeg Sun.

The Madrid defenses stood steady—for more than two months the Fascists have been unable successfully to force their way past the University City section and into the heart of the capital, although aerial attacks have caused vast damage to much of the city.

Convinced the siege will last throughout the winter, the defense junta today took advantage of the comparative lull in fighting to reorganize defense lines and drafted efforts to enforce strictest discipline among the militia units.

Thus far, about 300,000 citizens have been evacuated from the besieged city, open to Fascist air bombardment, lacking food and fuel, and swept by icy winds from the Guardia

MAXWELL GIRL TELLS OF THREAT ON SISTER

Medical Testimony in Slaying of Teacher's Father Conflicts.

WISE, Va., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Edith Maxwell's 18-year-old sister took the stand today during the former schoolteacher's second trial for the murder of her father and sobbed out a story of hearing Trigg Maxwell threaten to "finish" Edith shortly before he was found dying in the doorway of his poor country home.

Mrs. Katherine Maxwell said her miner-blacksmith father had brandished a butcher knife and said he was going to kill his daughter.

She didn't see any blows struck, the child said, but she jumped from her bed to "find Poppy stretched unconsciously on the floor."

Mrs. Katherine Maxwell said she heard Trigg Maxwell say previously to her mother:

"Anne, look what she's done to me. I'm going to finish her now."

The state contends the 22-year-old blonde fatally wounded her father by striking him with a kitchen instrument. At her first trial, in which she was sentenced to 25 years imprisonment, Edith testified she struck her father with a slipper when, in a drunken rage, he sought to attack her.

During the new trial, medical testimony as to the cause of the 52-year-old man's death has been conflicting. Two physicians who performed an autopsy on Trigg Maxwell said he died of concussion caused by blows on the head. Three physicians for the defense testified the wounds found on Trigg Maxwell's head were not sufficient to cause death. The defense contends he died of natural causes.

DOCTOR MAY REMOVE BULLET IN BOY'S BRAIN

BALTIMORE, Dec. 14.—(AP)—A tache at Johns Hopkins hospital said tonight that Dr. Walter Dandy had decided to operate tomorrow in an attempt to remove the 22-caliber bullet lodging in the brain of George Hopkins, 16, of Penn Yan, N. Y.

After keeping the youth under observation, hospital officials said, Dr. Dandy, the hospital's brain specialist, decided it might be possible to remove the pellet.

The boy, a high school athlete, is a son of a nurse and reads newspapers. He did not suffer the usual paralysis when a bullet from a friend's rifle penetrated his skull.

Dr. Allen Holmes, who brought the boy here, said the bullet moved three inches while Hopkins was in a New York hospital and that it was now "floating" on the left side of the brain.

CLOUDY, BUT NO RAIN, OR ICE, IS FORECAST

Partly cloudy weather, but no rain and no freezing temperature, is the promise for Atlanta from the weatherman for today.

"The mercury will range between 34 and 48 degrees during the day," according to George W. Minding, chief forecaster of the weather bureau. "There should be some sun in the afternoon."

Yesterday the range was between 40 and 47 degrees.

BUSY WEEK PLANNED AMONG BIG BROTHERS

Brothers will give them—with the help of other Atlantans.

Radio Programs.

Tonight will see another bit of sparkling entertainment for Atlantans in connection with Big Brother Christmas fund drive. Perry Bechtel and his orchestra will participate in a Big Brother public entertainment over station WATL from 8:15 to 8:45 o'clock tonight. The work and progress of the efforts of the Big Brothers will be included in other radio programs each night of the week from 8:15 to 8:30 o'clock, giving Atlantans a running account of the Christmas fund drive they are supporting.

A special radio program will be presented from 8:15 to 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night over station WGSI under the direction of General Chairman Frank Fling and Robert A. Garner, chairman of the fourth annual Big Brothers' charity ball.

Atlantans will general rally at the Big Brothers' rally at 8 o'clock Friday night at the headquarters, 101 Walton street, N. W. All ward majors, captains and volunteer workers will meet at that time to plan final assault on the gloom of poverty with the sale Sunday morning of the special Big Brothers' edition of The Constitution.

Preceding this rally, a luncheon meeting of the general Big Brothers committee will be held at 12:30 o'clock Thursday at the Ansley hotel, with majors and captains laying out the advance work of the paper sale.

Three separate divisional rallies will be held Saturday at the various parts of Greater Atlanta. In the ninth ward, Big Brothers will meet with Major Guy O. Guest at 7:30 o'clock at the Greenfield Masonic Lodge, 368 Moreland avenue, N. E.

College Park Big Brothers will meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the city hall to hear final plans for the drive in that section from Major Tom Tiller.

And the colored Christmas fund workers will hold their rally at 8 o'clock tomorrow night also, at their headquarters, 171 Auburn avenue, under the leadership of the Rev. J. H. Laramore, D. D. Major will report to the leaders of that division the requests she has received for help from colored people at Christmas time.

To Cheer Needy.

All this work is being done so that the needy families of Atlanta may be saved from a cheerless and heart-breaking Christmas. All that is asked of you is a small contribution and a response which is being received by the Big Brothers makes this year have the prospect of the biggest and most successful in Big Brothers' history.

Remember—it's a date for that big dance Thursday night.

And remember, too, to greet the Big Brother in your neighborhood with a contribution when he calls on you Sunday evening. He will give you a copy of that special Big Brother edition of The Constitution.

So many Atlantans who take The Constitution regularly find it something of a luxury on this Sunday morning each year to have an extra copy of the paper in the home. There is no squabbling over this section or that and the whole family feels it has done something remarkable in making Christmas a happy event for some one else.

adopted an Opportunity Family as their civic responsibility for the year. It is to be a grand moment when we can send the glad news to these families.

General Fund Grows.

In the meantime, the general fund is growing. A little faster and a little faster every day. Your gifts are coming in to swell the total, the gifts of $1 or $5 or $10 or $50 or $100 from all of you who cannot afford to adopt an opportunity, even a single-handed. And as these smaller gifts, a mighty total is accumulated, enough, we know, to take care of all those Opportunities otherwise not provided for and, we hope, before Christmas Day dawns, to take care of additional needy families. The first ten calls have been answered.

There is one especially nice thing about these Opportunity campaigns. None of the money need be used for "overhead." There are no expenses, no salaries, no charges of any kind to be deducted from the money that goes to the families for whom it is intended.

All the work that has to be done is by volunteers. There is no waste and, when you send a dollar for one of the families you wish to help, that family gets exactly 100 cents of your money.

Where to Send Funds.

Ten documents of human woe. Of children lacking food and clothes and proper shelter. Of poor mothers racked with worry and fear for what is to become of their little ones.

Ten documents of human courage. Of little families struggling against their heads above the economic flood that surrounds them. Of mothers trying, heroically, to smile despite their fear. Of children trusting, with perfect faith, that somehow, the food they need so desperately will be provided.

Ten pledges of human promise. Of pledges of good citizenship to come. Of promises that, held fast, these youngsters will be saved from the underworld that waits for children growing up without a home. Promise of little homes left secure intact, to radiate each to their own neighborhood the gladness and fulfillment so good in inherent in neener American homes.

Beeseech Hands.

These ten little family groups stand before you today, in the guise of these Ten Opportunity stories with hands outstretched, beseeching your interest in their plight. And as your contributions come in, one by one, we will be able to tell each family, "Your appeal has been heard, your prayers have been answered. The God of the Little Ones moved the hearts of Atlanta to see you shall not lack the necessities of life, suffer by deprivation, or be disappointed."

It is probable, in a day or two, we shall be able to announce that some of these Opportunity Families have been provided for by individuals who can afford, alone, to give the check for $20 or $30 or so, each month, that is needed to rescue them for another year.

Or some organized group, seeing the need, will have gotten together and

MRS. RUTH MTYRE, 24,
DIES OF BULLET WOUND

Mrs. Ruth McTyre, 24, of 683

Kendall street, died at about 8 o'clock last night in Grady hospital of a bullet wound in the chest, allegedly inflicted Sunday night by her husband, Ralph McTyre, 34.

McTyre is being held by Cobb county authorities. Sheriff E. M. Legg said a warrant, charging "shooting," was issued. The alleged shooting occurred in a filling station at Mableton, Ga., when the husband objected to his wife's drinking a glass of beer.

up to be fine men.

Their baby lips, yet rounded in the sweetness of babyhood, tell you proudly that, soon, they will be more able to "take care of" themselves.

In the meantime—

Mrs. K., when her husband died, thought she could work and support her boys without outside help. She got the best job she could, though it was work unlike anything she had experienced before. It was in a cotton mill. In the daytime, while she worked, she put her two little ones in a day nursery.

But that plan did not work.

The heavy labor, the strain to which she was subjected, and the worry over her beloved babies soon brought the young mother to the verge of a nervous breakdown.

The two little boys, unusually dependent upon their mother, fretted and moaned and grew steadily more unhappy under the daily separation in the nursery, fine though the care and attention given them there.

Then the mother had to give up her work, she had to keep the boys with her and she had to maintain, for their sakes as well as her own, a little home, no matter how humble, in which they could be happy together.

That home can continue as a social unit, as the place where three generations of a family are happy together. The older ones, who we can't give, because we ask that we permit her to remain among those who give anonymously, who heed that Scriptural injunction about not letting the left hand know what the right hand does, sent her check for $100.

Then there was the West End sales group of the Atlanta Gas Light Company. This group of real fellas decided, this year, to put into the Opportunity fund to help a family that really needs help, the money they would.

Give them the best of all possible Christmas days—and then extend their happiness through all the other 364. Let them know the smile of Santa Claus the whole year 'round. You can spare something, fellows and girls.

Early Contribution.

Some big-hearted Atlantans responded, yesterday, to the call of the Opportunities.

Others, Atlanta women who we can't give, because we ask that we permit her to remain among those who give anonymously, who heed that Scriptural injunction about not letting the left hand know what the right hand does, sent her check for $100.

ATLANTA, GA., DEC. 15, 1936.

WHERE THE BLAME LIES

The death of three men and the wounding of another in a shooting affray in the very shadow of the police station is another warning to Atlanta that the vicious numbers racket must be brought to an end if the development of the worst underworld conditions in the history of the city is to be avoided.

Already there have come into existence well organized gangs whose armed representatives patrol the city practically at will. It has been inevitable that with the creation of these gangs, conditions similar to those that existed in Chicago when that city was practically at the mercy of underworld overlords, should develop.

The police and the courts are not to blame for the continued existence of an underworld which has become a serious threat to the safety of every citizen of the city. One after another of the leaders of the numbers racket has been arrested, tried and sentenced, but the continued patronage of these iniquitous schemes by thousands of Atlanta citizens has caused others to quickly step into the places vacated by the gang leaders sent to the chain gang.

Every block in Atlanta, both in the business section and the residential areas, has one or more solicitors who make their daily morning rounds into every office and every home. Then, in the afternoons, the "pay-off" men make their rounds over the same routes.
Their patrons include every class of Atlanta citizens—professional men, businessmen, housewives, and even children.

In the last analysis, the good people of Atlanta who, seemingly with no thought that their contributions are going toward the creation of a vicious underworld in the city, play the "bug," are those responsible for such killings as those of last week, when two brothers, with the wife of one looking on, engaged in a pistol battle with two other men which culminated in death for three men and grave wounds for a fourth.

Atlanta faces no more critical problem than the elimination of the new and well-financed criminal underworld based on the lotteries of the state.

MOVE ON!

Leon Trotsky, stormy petrel of social unrest, has been warned by the Norwegian government to find a new home, his leave of stay in Norway expiring this month. The Norwegians have learned that the exiled Russian Bolshevik leader, who has lived among them since June 18, 1935, under the strict rule that he should cease his political propaganda, will not submit his personal ambition to the dictates of the countries which have given him refuge since he was told to leave Russia or suffer the fate of others who have opposed Stalin and his subordinates.

From Russia Turkistan he went to Turkey, then Greece, Spain, France, Denmark, then Norway.
Now he is negotiating for permission to go to Mexico. Trotsky's lawyer intimated that permission would be granted the Bolshevik leader to go to Mexico and stay as long as he desired, but that his employer "must have guarantees that his enemies are not secretly behind the arrangement."

Diego Rivera, Mexican Communist leader, is said to have urged

Mexico's president, Lazaro Cardenas, to admit Trotsky, whereas informed persons in Moscow said the move might have far-reaching results if Mexico should permit Trotsky to write and talk as he desires.

If he does land in Mexico, even under restrictions as to his Bolshevik activities, the United States must keep watch that he does not attempt to extend his influence to this country, where he already has connections holding over from the years he served on the staff of a Communist Journal in New York city. The kidnapping of General Chiang Kai-shek, generalissimo of the armies of the National government of China, by Marshal Chang Hsuehliang, emphasizes the greatest stumbling block which stands in the way of the development of stable government in China—the treachery which seems to be a practically universal trait among Chinese leaders.

Marshal Chang, who for many years was dictator of Manchuria, was forced to flee to China proper when the Japanese undertook the organization of the new state of Manchukuo four years ago. Even when he was in the prime of his power, Chang's allegiance to the Nanking government was slight, but when he fled to China, minus the army, vast sources of revenue and other assets which had made him one of the most powerful of the Chinese war lords, he was given ready haven by Chiang Kai-shek then President.

For five years Chang has been kept in positions of trust and in fluence by the Nanking government which is completely dominated by Chiang, although he has relinquished the presidency. Now Chang repays this faith and protection by kidnapping the man who was his friend and basing his release upon demands for the adoption of policies which Chiang has bitterly opposed since the organization of the Kuomintang government of China some 15 years ago.

These demands, in substance, are that the Nanking government not only cease its anti-Communist campaign, but align itself with the Communist in a united front against Japan; the recapture of Manchuria and Jehol through the declaration of war on Japan, and that the Nanking government vote itself out of office in order that a new government, presumably one in which Marshal Chang will be the dominant figure, can be established.

In view of existing facts and conditions, these demands are farcical.
Such steps would mean the doom of organized government in China and its probable assumption of the status of a completely Japanese-dominated country.

The Japanese modern military machine could wipe out the poorly equipped Chinese armies, despite their vast manpower strength, in a few months' campaign. The huge air force of Japan alone could carry widespread destruction to every populated center of China, and by interrupting the, at best, slow methods of transportation, bring the threat of starvation to the more than 400,000,000 people of the vast and sprawling country.

Generalissimo Chiang is a man of outstanding ability as a political leader and a military genius. His policy of non-resistance to Japan has been based upon the knowledge that armed resistance could have but one result—the same sort of disastrous defeat for the Chinese armies as was met by the armed forces of Manchuria when the weak and vacillating Chang was run out of that area.

Time and again since the overthrow of the Chinese empire the progress of democratic government in the country has been halted by treachery in high places.

The abduction of Chiang in this critical period of the Nanking government's existence again emphasizes the tragic road of the Chinese people in their struggle to regain the glory and influence that was once theirs as a nation.

The British cabinet was aghast at learning how real the royal romance is. It assumed right along this was a No. 2 production of "The Student Prince."

What started the Memphis lot to talking uninterruptedly for two weeks is unrevealed. But we imagine his mother had said, "Not now,
dear."

An eastern police chief, with three parks in his district, says he is going to stop necking. If it interferes with his business, a police chief should.

Maybe this will teach Spain not to enter into future wars without an immigration policy.

The technique of sending photos from Europe by radio has been refined beyond relief. Even the governments' jitters are transmitted.

What Spain needs, it is clear, is an enlightened farm policy—one that would stop the war on the ground that it erodes the soil.

Love and the British constitution are the sweet mysteries of life.

And Mrs. Simpson.

Edward should not have sought to impose on the parliament of England and tried to have made Wally his Queen without consulting the people.
The English people are entitled to ex-victory in our state and throughout the nation was due in no small part to a great Democrat who has recently passed from our midst, the Honorable Clark Howell, of Atlanta, Ga., and

21ST CHILD IS BORN
TO MICHIGAN COUPLE

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Dec. 14.—(AP)—A Benton Harbor factory worker and his wife were parents of their 21st child today, following the Caesarean birth of a 7 1/2-pound son Sunday to Mrs. Fred Hungerford, 45, and their 18-year-old children, including the eldest a daughter 20 years old. They include one set of twins, a 4-year-old boy and girl. Hungerford is 55 years old.

Road Rides Sought.

With discussion away from the capitol centered about their removal or departure from office, the present board called for bids on a handful of projects yesterday. These will be contracted for before Dec. 31.

Two of the most important projects are in Chairman Wilburn's home county of Macon. The projects follow:

Paving 4,654 miles of road in Bryan county, between Savannah and Clyde, and a bridge over the Canoe creek river.

Construction of 5.5 miles in Macon county, between Montezuma and Hawkinsville.

Construction of 9,373 miles in Macon county, between Oglethorpe and Butler, and between Vienna and Montezuma.

Construction of a bridge over the Atlanta & West Point railroad in LaGrange-Greenville highway.

Construction of 9,355 miles of stone base road in White county, on the Cleveland-Hiwassee highway.

Bids will be opened at the board offices at 10 a. m. Dec. 29, and contracts will be let in the afternoon.

U. S. RELIEF PROGRAM WILL BE UNCHANGED

Rivers' Inauguration Not To Affect Government Plans
in State.

There will be no changes in the federal relief program in Georgia when the Rivers administration assumes office next month except that there will be a close co-operation between Governor Rivers and Miss Gay B. Shepperson, the WPA administrator as well as between the Governor and directors of other agencies of the federal government, despite repeated reports to the contrary.

The co-operation between Miss Shepperson and the Governor will be something new, in the past she has had no contact with Governor Talmadge but already has held several conferences with Governor-elect Rivers, conferences which apparently have been arranged.

Miss Shepperson stands high with National Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, as does Governor-elect Rivers. The WPA setup is federalized in this and in all other states, so that the WPA control will be in the hands of the Governor-elect.

They would fight with the other pair and then come back for the purpose of robbery.

An investigation of the murders and the background leading to the battle will be instigated by the solicitor "as soon as possible," he said.

Detectives said they expected to make two arrests within the next day or two, hinting at hitherto unrevealed information.

A sworn statement was taken in the solicitor's office yesterday from Tom M. Gann, employee of the Roy E. H. Billingsley company, who was an eyewitness to the shooting. He repeated the same story that he told detective Saturday.

He said Billingsley and Nick Ranson met in the office, put aside their pistols and fought, and Ike Ranson beat Billingsley over the head with a pistol butt when Billingsley gained the upper hand.

Billingsley and Billingsley left, he said, returned a little later and the firing began.

Detective Lieutenant McKibbin backed up the solicitor's theory that the shooting was the beginning of a big war, and resulted from some "mussing in" in the lottery business.

Boynkin declared "organized rackets must be stopped and to do so we must have rigid law enforcement. The writers are forced to come into the open to make their collections, and so forth, so it should not be too hard to arrest these men and then treat them hard in court."

Appeal to Curb Bug.

He appealed to citizens to stop playing the bug and declared that as long as they continue to do so, the lottery racket will grow stronger and stronger and the result will be that it is a serious condition as New York and Chicago now find themselves.

"All crime that is organized, results from various rackets," he said. "This is logical, for no one will go out and kill a man for nothing, repeating his acts over and over. He must have

TALMADGE MEN HOLD FATE OF ROAD BOARD

OFFICIAL BALLOTS SENT FOR COUNT IN CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP)—By rail and air, the official ballots cast today by 531 presidential electors traveled to the capital for official counting long weeks after the country's popular vote had re-elected President Roosevelt.

The electoral ballots from at least one state will reach Washington

tonight when Pennsylvania's were deposited in the postoffice here.

Carl Becktell, of McKeithen, of the highway department, and the electors, came with them by plane.

Barring the almost unprecedented failure of electors to vote in accordance with the plan that selected them,

President Roosevelt should have received 523 electoral votes to elect the Republican nominee, Governor Alf M. Landon, of Kansas.

Rhode Island's electors cast their ballot three hours late, after waiting for a count of the state board of vote tally.

Nebraska's seven electors voted, but then found that they could not immediately get their five dollar allowance and travel fee—trouble over state funds caused the hitch.

The highway situation sums up this way:

The incoming administration does not care particularly about the size of the board as long as it will permit the new government to carry out its promise to build roads.

The present board will go either of its own free will or be legislated out of office.

Many men have been urged upon

Rivers for appointment to the highway board, but it is learned from authoritative sources that he has not considered the person of any member of the highway department.

The only thing he is known to want is to have a house cleaning and new men

at the head of the department.

While the highway department reorganization is a paramount subject being discussed by members of the incoming general assembly, there is also considerable interest in the construction of a road board.

The only thing he is known to

at the head of the department.

2D RULING IS SOUGHT ON N. Y. SECURITY LAW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP)—A petition seeking reconsideration of a 4-to-4 supreme court decision upholding constitutionality of the New York unemployment insurance law was filed today with the court.

It was presented by E. C. Stearns & Co., W. H. H. Chamberlin, Inc., and Associated Industries of New York State, Inc., who lost under the ruling.

They asked a reargument before all nine justices. The 4-to-4 ruling was due to the absence of Justice Stone, who is ill.

The petition said a rehearing would "be in accord with precedent and long-established practice of this court in like situations," would serve "the public interest" and would "avert the possibility of grave injustice to these appellants."

How About Mother and Dad?

Don't They Need New Glasses?

When people reach the age that glasses are necessary, it is also necessary to have the lenses changed once every year, or two or three, depending upon condition of the eyes.

For any member of your family, to whom you expect to make a useful gift, nothing would be more appropriate or more highly appreciated than a pair of new lenses to bring their vision up to date.

We will gladly co-operate with you to that end. Eye examination by registered optometrists. Terms, if desired.

NEW KING TAKES UP BUSINESS OF EMPIRE

our whole-hearted loyalty. I think we look painfully back at the week which has past, but we await the light and hope of a new day."

William Gallagher, Communist member of parliament, said he had refused to swear the oath of allegiance, with hand on a Bible, but substituted "affirmation of good faith."

Reading the royal message to parliament, the former Foreign Minister Stanley Baldwin praised King George VI, who "more than any of his brothers resembles" his father, and who "has the same devotion to duty. Whatever may happen to him, no personal predilections of any kind will stand between him and what he conceives to be his duty—and that is to fulfill his great task as King and Emperor."

Parliament planned to resume regular business tomorrow with consideration of new import duties on beef and veal.

An American committee of parliamentarians will be formed tomorrow night at an informal dinner with its object to study United States relations and to discuss them with distinguished American visitors.

BONURA, TERMED
ERRATIC AFIELD,
LED 1936 RIVALS

Luke Appling Took Part in Record Number of Double Plays.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(UP)—Many unkind things have been said about the fielding of Henry (Zekie) Bonura, of the Chicago White Sox, but the official figures showed today that he led the American league in his position in 1936.

The regular Indian from New Orleans handled the ball in a .996 clip to nose out iron Lou Gehrig, of the World Champion New York Yankees, and Irving (Jack) Burns, of the Detroit Tigers, who tied for second place at .994. Bonura succeeded Jimmy Foxx, of the Boston Red Sox, as fielding champion at first base.

Bonura, who participated in 150 double plays to equal the major league record, established by Joe Kuhel, of Washington, in 1935, "Sunny Jim" Bottomley, of the St. Louis Browns, set a new record by accomplishing eight unassisted double plays during the campaign.

ACE FIELDERS.

Charles Gehringer and Kelly Rogell, of the Tigers, and Red Rolfe, of the Yankees, repeated as the ace fielders at the other three infield positions. Gehringer headed the second base brigade with .974, against his .985 of a year ago. Rogell, leader in assists, shortstop, with .965, against .971 in 1935, while Rolfe turned in an average of .957 to head the third basemen. The Yankee star's average for 1935 was .964.

Al Simmons led the outfielders with .986, replacing Sammy West, of the Browns, who so long reigned as three-point hitting king. Rick Ferrell, another Red Sox star, paced the catchers at .987, compared to the .995 turned in by Bill Dickey, of the Yankees, in 1935.

Seventeen hurlers fielded faultlessly, with the veteran Ted Lyons, of Chicago, topping the list. Lyons had the most complete chances, 50, and led the league's pitchers in assists with 38. The others who did not commit an error were Bump Hadley, St. Louis; Vic Sorell, Detroit; Lloyd Brown, Cleveland; Johnny Ciccarelli, Yankees; Jim Hegan, Chicago; Eddie Lohr, Al Thomas, St. Louis; Joe Casner, Boston and Washington; Cohen, Washington; Henry, Boston; Meola, St. Louis and Boston; Gumpert, Flythe and Bullock, Philadelphia; Kimberling, St. Louis; Kleinhans, New York, and young Bob Feller, of Cleveland.

NEW TOUT MARK.

With the St. Louis outfield veteran, created a new record for putouts, 470, marking the fourth time in his career that he passed 400.

Detroit again took team fielding honors, finishing with a .975 average, Chicago and New York, which ran second with .974. The White Sox led in double plays at .74, with Shortstop Luke Appling, the major league batting champion, participating in 119 to surpass the former league mark of 116 set by Rogell in 1935.

Seven triple plays, two each by Boston, and Washington, and one each by Detroit, Chicago, and Cleveland, tied the major league record set by the National in 1922 and tied by the National in 1929.

BILL M'FARLANE WINS AT NASSAU

NASSAU, Bahamas, Dec. 14.—(UP)—Anglo-Willem M'Farlane tended strictly to his game of golf today, and was rewarded by winning the Nassau open's top prize of $800.

With the cash almost within his grasp in the 1935 open, the Scot idly pitched the roadside debris while awaiting his turn to tee in the final round. A jagged rock from his putting partner cost him victory.

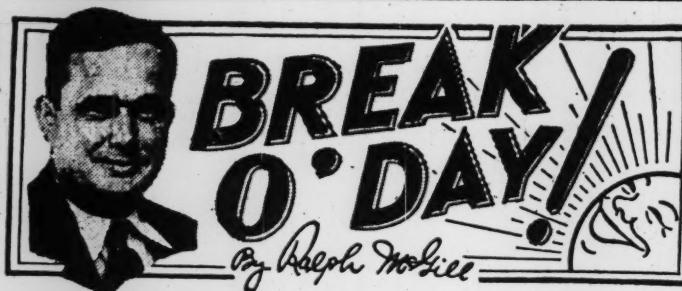

M'Farlane went around the windswept Bahamas Country Club course, a par 68 layout, in 266 for the 72 holes, linking 68-68-64 with today's 35-31 for his winning score.

His most relentless competitor, Horton Smith, of the U. S. Open, finished in a tie-place tie with another Windy City pro, Harry Cooper, at 269. They divided $800, combined second, and third place money.

Back of them, in order, were Paul Runyan, of New York, 270; Pat Sawyer, of Minneapolis, and Henry Pieper, of New York, 272; Dennis Shantz, of Coral Gables, Bahia; Gull Dahl, of St. Louis, and Chandler Harper, of Portsmith, Va., 273; Ky Laffoon, of Orlando, Fla., 274; Joe Belfore, of Detroit; Herman Kiser, of Springfield, Mo., and Willie Klein, of Wheatley Hills, N. Y., 276.

HARVARD VS. PENN.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 14.—(UP)—Renewal of football relations between Harvard and University of Pennsylvania, with games in 1937 and 1939, was announced yesterday by the Harvard Athletic Association. The first game will be played here October 21, and the second at Philadelphia on November 3, the following year.

LARRY GILBERT
GETS TWO ACES
FOR 1937 PELS

Greek George, Milt Galatzer Give Crafty Manager Fine Start.

By Jack Troy.

That slick baseball man, Larry Gilbert, who talks in Cajun accents sweet when any trading is being done, is guilty. I am afraid of stoking up the fire in the hot stove league.

Mr. Gilbert left the minor league men at Montreal with the same crew of Chick Autry, Eddie Morgan and Bill Thomas. He did not name any players he had acquired, however.

And so the word is out at last that, in disposing of Tom Drake, another pitcher, Mr. Gilbert acquired Charley (Greek) George, the former Oglethorpe catching star, and Milt Galatzer, outfielder, from the Cleveland Indians.

So it seems that Mr. Gilbert, in cleaning house, is adding some very new and substantial baseball furniture.

GEORGE IS GOOD.

Greek George is a very robust young catcher who can hit that baseball as well as throw it to the bases when base runners show tendencies toward petty or grand larceny.

Also Georgia, with the experience gained from playing with Cleveland and Cleveland farm clubs, has developed into a very heady hander of pitchers.

He started out, of course, under Larry Gilbert at New Orleans, and now he is back with him. And a very fine addition to the Pelican club he is.

Galatzer will come in very handy in the lining up of the outfield. He can hit and field.

ANNUAL CONTENDER.

Larry Gilbert is a potential contender in the Southern league race. He's the only Southern league manager, in fact, who has won two pennants in a row on two separate occasions.

He did it with the Pelican teams of 1926 and 1927 and also with the 1930 team, best Memphis three straight games in the playoffs. Illness of Gilbert and injuries got the Pels off to a slow start last season.

Speaking of structures for a good ball club—well, Gilbert right now has Greek George, Tom Irvin and Bud Connally as infielders. Galatzer is an outfielder, and Jonas Butzman and Henry Capdeville as the nucleus of a pitching staff, not to mention Bill Perin.

The Crackers will not soon forget Butzman. The rookie right-hander practically beat the champion single-handed in the Shreveport playoff.

NOT MANY NEEDS.

Gilbert needs a second baseman and a couple of outfielders. It may be that Gleason will return.

At any rate, the New Orleans structure looks rather substantial from this distance.

Fact is, what with all the strengthening being done on all fronts, winter baseball is likely to be a faster race by way of substantiating the A-1 rating of the Southern league.

The Crackers have been riding herd on the league for the past two years possibly because they were one of the new clubs, actually up to the new standards.

The other clubs, perhaps, are fearing that does not have any definite major league affiliations. No Southern league club has ever won three pennants in a row. The Crackers are bent on doing just that. Hence all the winter showman activity on the part of the good brothers around the circuit. The majority of pennants are won in the winter time.

All Seats Sold
For Rose Bowl
Football Game

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 14.—(UP)—Announcement of Rose football authorities announced triumphantly today that the teams of Washington and Pittsburgh would play before a capacity throng of around 85,000 in the annual Rose Bowl classic New Year's Day.

Athletic guardians of the big game shut down the ticket windows this morning.

"The Rose Bowl is definitely sold out for the New Year's Day game," Carl Kilgore, manager of athletics of Washington, announced.

Overflow requests for tickets, he said, will be returned this week.

The ticket office will open just seven days. Apparently it is made no difference that the opposing teams had slightly soiled records.

Dean Detton Pins Man Mountain Dean

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(UP)—Dean Detton, 205, of Salt Lake City, champion of the heavyweight wrestling championship, used an airplane spin to throw Man Mountain Dean, 301, Los Angeles, in 8:37 of the feature bout of the Hippodrome's weekly wrestling card tonight.

In a preliminary, Orville Brown, 225, Kansas City, defeated Chief Sanoone, 338, Cherokee, S. C.

Joe Louis Knocks Out
Simms in 26 Seconds

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 14.—(UP)—Brown-skinned Joe Louis tonight registered the quickest knockout of his sensational career, winning on a technical k.o. over Eddie Simms, of Cleveland, in 26 seconds of the first round of their scheduled 10-round before more than 11,400 fans in the Public auditorium.

The first blow, lightning fast, that Joe landed sent Simms backwards to the floor almost under the ropes.

This terrific left hook was believed at first to have broken Simms' jaw, but a quick examination showed the jaw was only badly bruised.

The knockdown came after 18 seconds of milling, in which the angular, brown-haired Eddie tore off Joe and landed several hard right and left hooks to the Bomber's head. Unperturbed, Louis started a counter-attack and his first punch brought disaster to the hometown pride.

The overflow crowd was amazed as Simms hurtled backwards to the canvas and the fans were even more amazed when he seemed unable to get to his feet. At the count of six Referee Arthur Donavan assisted Eddie to his feet, looked into his eyes and immediately waved his arm in token of a Louis victory.

Atlanta Sees Wild Boar --- After the Hunt

Constitution staff photo—Hers
The hide was shipped to the Smithsonian Institution. A quarter of a century ago sportsmen imported wild boars from Prussia to Tennessee. They escaped into the mountains and now are so numerous special hunts were arranged.

They Kill Wild Boars,
But Not 'Killing Bores!'

Atlanta Sees First One; Rangers Get Big One in Tennessee Mountains.

By Ralph McGill.

The telephone rang.
"Would you," asked the voice, "like to get a picture of a bore?"

"Well, really, those things are pretty bad without making pictures of them."

"I thought you might. You see, this one weighs 300 pounds or more."

"It isn't that fellow who has been telling all those old gags about Mrs. Simpson, is it?"

"Say, what are you talking about?"

"The bore you mentioned."

"Well, I am talking about a h-o-a-r, not a bore. A wild boar."

"Oh, that's different. What made him wild? Bores?"

But we got the picture. He's a mean-looking cuss. As you may see by looking above, Federal Rangers A. C. Shaw and E. A. Schilling took part in the wild boar hunt which the state of Tennessee staged and which still going on, for that matter.

GET THEIR BOAR.

Federal Rangers Shaw and Schilling went on a special mission for the government and the Smithsonian Institute. They skinned their 300-pound boar yesterday and sent the hide to the institute. They seem to be as effective as do the government "G" men. The rangers always get their boar.

By special permit hunters were allowed to go into the mountains near Tellico Plains, which had become so plentiful as to be dangerous.

They are a strain loosed in the mountains years ago and are genuine wild boars.

The Americans, however, do not hunt as do the English. The English make a specialty of hunting wild boars with guns. They ride a horse and chase the boar until he turns and then meet the charge.

USE SCATTER GUNS.

The people who joined in the Tennessee hunt were very skittish about it. They used scatter guns and rifles. And they went in pairs. They were very much afraid a boar might break over behind them and use tusk on cover behind them and use tusk on them.

The first few hunts have only fairly successful. A great many of the hunters seem afraid they really will find a wild boar.

The word is that only a few of the big, tough boars with tusks, which have been doing a lot of damage, have been killed or even found.

FROM PRUSSIA.

A quarter of a century ago a group of wealthy sportsmen imported some boars from Prussia. The idea was to put them on a reservation and enjoy hunting after the English fashion.

But they broke out of the pens. They began to marry into the families of native wild hogs and the result has been that this section of the mountains is inhabited by hundreds and hundreds of big tough babies of the boar family.

The open season closes soon.

There is no hint as to when there will be an open season on hares who tell Mrs. Simpson jokes. In the first place it isn't fair to Max West. And in the second place most of the gags are terrible.

The acceptance is conditional upon permission by other schools in the Southwest conference for T. C. U. to appear in the post-season game.

T. C. U., Marquette
Cotton Bowl Foes

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 14.—(UP)—Texas Christian University has accepted an invitation to play Marquette University in a New Year's Day football game in the Dallas Cotton Bowl, if one is arranged tonight by J. Curtis Sanford, president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association.

The acceptance is conditional upon permission by other schools in the Southwest conference for T. C. U. to appear in the post-season game.

TIGERS RESUME TRAINING TODAY

AUBURN, Ala., Dec. 14.—(UP)—In fine condition after a rest of two weeks, Auburn today began training for a New Year's Day game at Hattiesburg with Villa Nova.

Wasting no time in buckling down to a serious training grind for the post-season battle, Coach Jack Meagher called out his full squad of 40 men and sent them into hard drills.

Most of the squad gained weight during the two-week layoff.

Most of the players were nursing injuries and Meagher expected to present his full team strength at Hattiesburg.

That was some tackle, as Brooks will verify. In fact, Brooks didn't have a chance to get out of his tracks before Cushing was on him like a rag before force.

Rud Lindsey held down the other tackle. Tackle replacements were Walter Rimmer and Red Roberts.

Jack Nixon and Allen Wilcox started at guards. They were relieved by J. C. and Mack Furlow.

Jack Chivington and Ed Sims alternated at center.

Only Lawrence Hays and Chance, of the regulars reporting yesterday, were unable to see service. Hays is working out in sweat clothes because of an injured ankle and will be held out of all games.

Craig Alexander said he would hold scrimage part of each practice day this week. All the heavy work is to be concluded during the week.

He deserves the best!

Hartman Is Chosen '37 Georgia Captain

Bulldogs Reward Inspirational Fullback; Otis Maffett Named Alternate Grid Leader.

By Felton Gordon.

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 14.—In recognition of his being the inspiration of Georgia's November comeback, Fullback Bill Hartman, Milledgeville, tonight was chosen to lead the 1937 University of Georgia football team. Otis Maffett, Atlanta, brother of the Bulldog captain of 1930, was named alternate captain.

Harold Hirsch, prominent Atlanta attorney and ardent supporter, said the 1936 team had a "great year." He made the principal talk at the annual banquet held at the Holman hotel. A telegram from President Herman W. Caldwell, expressing regret at his inability to attend, was read. It was the first time anyone other than coaches and players were invited.

Twenty-six players and the co-managers were awarded letters. They followed: Lumpkin, Law, centers; Hartman, Hall; Tinsley, Troutman, Legion guards; Davis, Badgett, Hayes, tackles; Candler, Maffett, Gilcode, guards; Young, Roddenberry, Miller, ends; Young, Roddenberry, Miller, quarterback; Hall, Stevens, Caughey, left halfbacks; Vandiver, Cason, Johnson, right halfbacks; Green, Hartman, Jones, fullbacks; Harden and Wright, managers.

NEW SYSTEM.

Designation of a captain marks a variation from the co-captain idea which has been operated for the past two seasons. The twin leadership was determined by the vote between the two highest candidates. The balloting was not close. Hartman, Hartman, Atlanta, and J. C. Hall, Spartanburg, S. C., are the retiring generals.

In announcing the lettermen, Athletic Director Stegeman told reporters a player's time in games was not the determining factor in choosing the lettermen. He said, "They were chosen on the basis of what a player was worth to the team." Wallace Miller, Macon quarterback, was given a letter partially due to his playing the center position at a critical moment in the Tulane encounter.

Both Hartman and Maffett had great seasons this fall. "Hartman should make a great leader," Coach Harry Mehre commented. "Maffett was a great help to the team this fall and should be greater during the next season."

Hartman attended Madison High School and Georgia Military College, Milledgeville, before entering the University. He is expected to receive his degree next June but will take post-graduate work next fall. Injured during the week after the Mercer contest, he remained in Georgia for the Florida tilt. He did not play in a single game lost during the season.

TOUCHDOWN PASSES.

Brothers of one of the best players Georgia ever had, the famed Herbert, Otis Maffett, attended Boys' High school, in Atlanta. He caught touchdown passes in several games this fall, including the Fordham contest. After a slow pre-season start, he came back to prove a threat in every game.

The banquet started at an earlier hour than usual, due to term examinations. Most of the players left hurriedly to begin preparing for examination touchdown passes.

Athletic Director Stegeman and Coach Mehre made short talk concerning the previous play of Bill Johnson, in particular, was lauded. Dr. W. O. Payne, faculty chairman of athletics, was also on hand for the banquet.

Spring Practice At Athens Jan. 25.

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 14.—Coach Harry Mehre announced tonight that spring practice will start January 25 and will continue six weeks.

Sixteen lettermen will be among those due to report. Sanford Coat, Vandiver, lanky forward on the basketball team, may join the squad before the close of the workouts. Last spring drills were hampered by snow.

A 10-game schedule, the toughest arranged for Commercial High school eleven was announced Monday night by Rufus Godwin, athletic director and coach. Another game will be placed on the schedule at a later date, with two schools, Riverside and Savannah High being considered at present.

Commercial, winner of the North Georgia Interscholastic conference last year and co-champions with Decatur for the 1935 season, probably has made more progress than any in the state in recent years.

The Red Raiders played a tough schedule last year, but the 1937 card is even harder, and opens with Boys' High in a night game on September 17 at Ponce de Leon park.

All the games except Richmond Academy at Augusta, and Spalding County High, at Griffin, will be played at night at Ponce de Leon park.

SAFETY TWICE.

A new wrinkle in prep football will be introduced by Commercial High next year for two games have been arranged with Marist College. The first will be played on October 15 and another on November 26 in a Thanksgiving Day game.

Only Columbus Industrial will be new to the Red Raiders' schedule next year, unless a game materializes with Savannah. That appears very likely at present. And should that fail, then another will be arranged instead.

Five games, including two with Marist, have been arranged with members of the North Georgia Interscholastic conference. Four are with members of the G. I. A. A., giving the Red Raiders a chance at both the G. I. A. and N. G. I. C. championships.

"We don't expect to win all our games, but with the interest increasing each year at the school, we have stepped out and tackled the hardest possible within our own class," Coach Godwin said Monday night.

"Several teams in the midwest have arranged two games between them and with our limited sources, we are continuing our football locally as far as possible and the two-game schedule is an experiment," the Commercial coach added.

The device which enables them to do this is screwed to the center of a wooden clubhead. It has four prongs spaced just right to receive and hold a well-hit ball. If the practice ball isn't struck properly it will bound away. The rounded edges of the prongs prevent injury to the ball, yet a player can tell whether the shot was topside, hit off the front or the back of the clubhead.

Another product may remove some of the "financial" hazard from golf's water holes.

It is about the size of a regular golf club, with telescopic sections and a collapsible cup on the end, with which to fish up the ball. The pressing of a spring inside the cup expands the fastenings. If one section doesn't give enough length to reach the ball under water, another may be used.

Thirty chaps who clutched up the fairways searching for fees might be eliminated if a mechanical tee gained favor. One patent calls for a rubberized tape to be sprung, a box unit embedded in the ground. The tee bounces back into position after having been struck.

Basketball has had its share of inventive attention. An electrical loop hung midway of a basketball goal netting expands as the ball slips through and tangles the goal on a scoreboard.

A linesman's indicator would speed up football by making it unnecessary for the officials to rush on the field to measure first downs. Through a sighting arrangement, the official's job when Josh Coyle left here last spring to become athletic director of the University of Florida.

THE SCHEDULE.

Washington, Dec. 14.—(UPI)—Golf duds, sweating football officials and the weak hitters of baseball should not abandon hope. America's inventive genius is giving increasing attention to the plight of these forgotten men of sport.

Several inventions recently put out are calculated to aid golfers, while a baseball machine enables hitters to practice and another gadget aims to eliminate some of the football linesman's legwork.

Unhappy golf duffers may swing the practice club in their backyards, swat a soft ball and perhaps learn to eliminate the pop flies they hit out of the tee.

THE SCHEDULE.

Washington, Dec. 14.—(UPI)—Touchdowns and the number of points of the Metropolitan Interscholastic Association, the first to be played at 7 o'clock, will give Ankyra Class a tough battle.

All teams are urged to be in uniform by playing time, as the league has the code for the end period.

The Cadets have played several practice games, but due to members of the football team not being able to practice until last week, Coach Sam Burbridge is playing every game possible before the regular prep season opens on January 7.

The 14-year-old class of cadets will be given every opportunity to make the squad and at present only Roy Rowlett, rangy center, is certain of his birth. The other places are wide open and there will be plenty of fight for each post.

ROME, LAGRANGE, ATHENS INVITED TO ENTER GROUP

Commercial, Decatur Declared Co-Grid Champions at Meeting.

By Roy White.

Fulton High school will be host to the 1937 North Georgia Interscholastic Conference basketball tournament, it was voted Monday at the annual meeting of the conference at the Holman hotel. The dates were set for the week end of February 26 and the tourney will be played on the new Fulton High court back of the school on Washington street.

Commercial and Decatur High were voted champions for the football season just completed with Fulton invited in. N. G. I. C. ranks and battoned to a scoreless tie on October 23. And the conference voted to give both teams a suitable championship trophy.

TAKE NO ACTION.

Athens High school, through its athletic director and Coach Bowell, declined to join the conference, preventing the formation of a north Georgia athletic association, but since the North Georgia Interscholastic Conference has been in successful operation for many years, no action was taken on the letter.

The conference did vote, however, to instruct State Legis. C. W. O'Rear to invite Athens High, Rome High and LaGrange High to join the conference, which would make it one of the strongest high school organizations in north Georgia.

D. P. Buice, Spalding; G. W. O'Hearn, North Fulton and E. P. McIlwain, Fulton, were named on a committee to complete all details concerning the basketball tournament.

TITLE COMMITTEE.

Louie Van Houten, Marist; Wendell Sullivan, Decatur, and G. D. Buice, Spalding, were named on a football committee to recommend plans for next year's championship every year. It was also recommended to the football committee that some sort of a rotating plan be perfected whereby every team will be required to play every other team in the conference every three or four years.

It was one of the most harmonious N. G. I. C. meetings in recent years and indicates the unusual progress being made in high school sports. In fact there has never been a meeting of discord, but Monday night the members seemed in a most jovial mood with every suggestion being heartily received and new members being named.

Rufus Godwin, of Commercial, the president, was in charge and other schools represented included Decatur, North Fulton, Fulton, Spalding, Gainesville, Russell, Marist and Druid Hills.

Members of the conference voted to change the date of the basketball schedules, with the annual tournament determining the champion. No set number of games are to be played before the tournament and as many teams as enter will be eligible for the Christmas tournament.

DOUGLAS, Ga., Dec. 14.—Speaking at the dedication here today of the auditorium-gymnasium building at South Georgia College, Chancellor S. V. Sanford, of the University System, said "the struggle now going on in all communities and among all races is a struggle to make progress and to have more abundant life."

"The system of education in the past," said the chancellor, "has been based on training for leadership. Today the definite line between leaders and others has been broken down."

The efforts of the people today are toward a unified and concerted goal. The care of the nation is intertwined with the welfare of the children of the city with those of the farm houses. The quality of opportunity rather than the quality of expenditure, should be our aim."

Dr. Harmon W. Caldwell, president of the university at Athens, also spoke.

The building, which was erected at a cost of $32,016, is one in a construction program now under way at the various units in the University System, being built by state and government funds.

Dr. Caldwell, speaking on the subject "Higher Education Today and Tomorrow" in part said:

"Life and progress of the twentieth century civilization is vastly different from the agricultural civilization of the eighteenth century. The education of all earlier days is, therefore, not wholly adequate for training students to meet the conditions of today."

"Education of today is making a sincere and earnest effort to make these adjustments in our educational program to meet the needs of the common schools through the graduate work of our universities is united to bring about the accomplishments of this common purpose."

A boys' dormitory is to be dedicated at Southwestern College at Americus tomorrow.

Little Catherine Pearson Henry's Christening Takes Place Dec. 24

By Sally Forth.

DECEMBER 24 will not only be baby Catherine Pearson Henry's first Christmas Eve, but the date will mark the christening of Mr. and Mrs. James Henry's two-month-old daughter. The impressive service, at which Bishop H. J. Mikell will officiate, is set for 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the Pro-cathedral and will be attended by close friends of the baby's parents. Mrs. Kenneth A. Meredith and Mrs. Hugh D. Carter Jr. will stand as godmothers for Pearson, the little girl's middle name, by which she will be called, and Charles Black Sr. will assume the obligations of godfather.

The baptismal robe in which the little girl will be dressed is the same as that worn by her maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. David J. Molloy, of Chicago, and throughout these years it has been treasured by Mrs. Henry. Made of sheer batiste, age has turned the dress into a soft cream shade, its trimming being a front panel of insertion and tiny hand tufts.

The long slip which the little girl will wear under her dress is the valued possession of Mrs. Hugh D. Carter, the former Miss Ruth Moore, which was worn by Mrs. Carter at her own christening, and by her father, Berrien Moore, when he was christened.

The baby's maternal grandmother, David J. Molloy, of Chicago, and Mrs. Molloy will arrive on December 23 to be present at the christening. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Molloy's mother, Mrs. Louis dePorter. The visitors will remain with Mr. and Mrs. Henry at their Valley road residence until December 26, when they return to Chicago.

MRS. EVELL GAY tells an amusing story on herself and tells it exceedingly well. It concerns perfume, a subject which has no particular interest for Mrs. Gay, because she cares little or nothing for its pleasing fragrance, nor is she familiar with any of its odors.

Mrs. Gay, who never uses perfume, found an attractive looking bottle on her dressing table after Mrs. Inman Sanders had luncheon at her home recently. It was filled with what Mrs. Gay believed to be perfume, so she decided to put some on her very evening to attend a social function. She continued its usage several evenings thereafter and each time her escort asked its particular scent.

To his question Mrs. Gay always responded, "I don't know."

Several days afterward, Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Gay engaged in a telephone conversation, which ended with:

"Adagie, please take care of my toothache medicine I left on your dressing table the other day."

This accounts for the strong cinnamon scent detected by Mrs. Gay's masculine friends.

IT WAS near closing time at a well-known beauty parlor. The operators were rushing to finish the facials, the finger waves and manicures of members of their fashionable clientele, when in rushed a popular young member of society, her hair blown by the wind.

"I must have a wave right away," she announced, "and it will have to be done in a hurry." The operators informed her that the books were filled and there could be no possible time given her until after closing time.

"Well, I will have to wait," she said. "I'm going to a dinner party and I won't look much like Mrs. Simpson unless my hair is fixed."

For Miss Tripp And Mr. Brink.

Miss Virginia Tripp, whose marriage to Eul H. Brink takes place Saturday evening at All Saints' Episcopal church, was honored Sunday at social affairs. Miss Elizabeth McGaughy entertained at a breakfast which carried out the color scheme of yellow and white. The table was centered with an arrangement of white and yellow roses and snapdragons, and placecards were miniature wedding bells. Invited were Misses Marcella Luckisch, Frances Cheney, Martha Knapp, Toineet Dorman, Gladys Valleebuna, Marie Sheldon and Mrs. John C. Pherson.

Miss Tripp and her fiance shared honors Sunday at the open house at which Ed Grant entertained at the East Lake Country Club and receiving with the host and honorees were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Tripp, parents of the bride-elect, and members of the wedding party.

Miss Gladys Valleebuna, gave an aperitif party last evening at her home on Pelham road, in honor of Miss Tripp and Mr. Brink. Guests were limited to members of the wedding party and a few friends. Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Valleebuna and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Tripp assisted in entertaining.

The most successful way of beautifying the skin is Mercollized Wax. This unique treatment of softening, bleaching, coloring. As you know, of course, when the skin is young, nature constantly strips off the dead cells of surface skin. But this action subsides as skin grows older and a veil of dead skin obscures the beauty that lies underneath. That is why every woman should use Mercollized Wax to hasten Nature's process of shedding the dead cells. Mercollized Wax gently takes off the dead, dull, discolored skin in minutes, invisible particles. Mercollized Wax unearths for you radiant skin of alarming smoothness. Mercollized Wax brings out the hidden beauty of any complexion.

Posture makes the figure. With poor posture, the small girl lacks distinction, the stocky girl appears dumpy, and the tall girl, who should be stately—looks apologetic. Be it bad or beautiful, posture cannot be overlooked.

Posture is so important to beauty that in figure salons' shadowgraph is taken to expose where you slump. At home you can test your silhouette by standing sideways before a full-length mirror in your habitual posture and then try to see yourself as others see you.

Too many disconnected rules—"chest out," "shoulders back," "chin in"—result in rigidity and unnaturalness, which are tiring and anything but graceful. The thing to remember is to stand as tall as possible with the body in line from tip to toe.

While the best corrective of posture is the continual practice of good posture, you must strengthen certain muscles before you can hold yourself erect. Do you find it tiring to stand in an upright position? Weak, inflexible muscles are incapable of holding the body to good form. As long as the muscles are weak they allow the body to sag and droop, and unless remedial steps are taken, poor posture tends to become worse.

One of the best things you can do for your posture is to stretch your backbone. Lie down on the floor, flat on your back, and stretch out all the kinks. Now, bending one knee to the chest, stretch both arms overhead. Now bend the arms back, hands to the shoulders, and extend the leg while inhaling the breath. Repeat with alternate legs, stretching and bending rhythmically.

The following trunk twisting exercise helps to strengthen the abdominal and lower back muscles and corrects rounded shoulders:

Position: Sitting on a stool of chair height, feet on floor, hands clasped behind neck.

Movement: Twist trunk to side, keeping the elbow straight in line. Twist to the opposite side, then back, repeating the exercise 12 times.

If the fault is in the lower back rather than the shoulders, the muscles of the lower back as well as those of the abdomen should be strengthened.

The following exercise is particularly helpful in the correction of lordosis. This exercise is called the half-somersault and was suggested by the late Lillian Drew.

Position: Lie on the back, arms at sides, knees bent, feet on the floor.

Movement: Draw knees upward to chest, then, keeping the knee swaying the leg overhead, raising the back off the floor until the weight is resting on the shoulders and braced arms. Return to position by flexing the knees.

Good posture helps you carry your weight well.

ANSWER. Person. If you go to your mother, put your head in her lap, and tell her how her attitude is destroying happiness not only for you but for her and the other sister, she will relent and behave decently toward you and your family. If she is so stony hearted that she can hear the story without relenting, then you should put her out of your mind and go on to enjoy the good, children and in-laws. You will have a clear conscience. After all, it is the trouble makers who suffer the worst pangs of pain at the separations they bring about. Nobody yet has ever found a way to keep hate and happiness in the heart at the same time and while the haters have it in their power to punish those who love them, the haters bear the real brunt of their meanness.

ANSWER. Person. The influences of the Sun's influence on the day of your birth, according to the rules of astrology. When you have checked each of your numbers your forecast will be complete.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care 256 Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: My husband is an honest, temperate man who is loved and admired in his community. We have two lovely children and our home life is in a perfect heaven as far as we are concerned but there is a sorrowful secret that has been kept hidden. My mother has never been in our home and never seen our children. An older sister who married badly is at the root of the trouble. I am sure. She has told terrible lies on us and all because she is jealous of my happy marriage. I am hungry for my mother's love and not even my husband's family can be good enough to fill the place of my own family. My in-laws have seen how I suffer over this separation and they have tried to make up to me what I have been deprived of by my own family. Is there anything I can do to bring about a better relationship? HELEN.

NANCY PAGE

Twinkle, Twinkle Four Big Stars.

By FLORENCE La GANKE

In the sky, the pale stars glittered and "twins, from Aunt Dinch's quilt," part was one which seemed to me to be the old song which all quilters love when I named this pattern "Glitter." Can't you see the twinkle, twinkle of all these stars as they sparkle here and there and over the quilt top?

Nancy was talking to the members of her Nancy Page quilt club. They were alive with larger stars close at hand was what Nancy offered in this quilt.

The club members clipped the picture and directions from the paper. They sent for the direction leaflet, following the directions given at the end of the day's column. When they had the sheet they used it to trace all the various pieces onto lightweight card-board. After they were traced they cut them.

Then they laid these on the goods which was smooth, free from wrinkles, and fast color. They marked the outline with a sharp pencil. They cut the pieces, allowing one-eighth or one-quarter inch from the pencil lines. Then sewed the pieces to the pencilled lines. This gave them blocks that were true in shape and size.

They used number 90 white thread for piecing. There was a small firm knot in the end of the thread and the seams were finished with a few firm backstitches. The seams were pressed open and flat. For a four-pointed quilt made for a double bed Nancy suggests that you purchase three and one-half yards of plain background material. And one half yards of polka dot figured material for the squares, and three yards of white. This counts on the corners. Then sew the squares to each other so dark to give contrast to the pattern. But a blue winter sky, powdered with stars in the distance and good psychiatrist says about his case. It is entirely possible that an expert can diagnose the trouble and that the boy may be restored to normal under proper treatment and management. Certainly he can learn to use his hands if not his head. There is no time to waste; for only the tender twig can be bent in the right direction. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

She had asked her for some starry designs that would be appropriate for Christmas and she was one which seemed to me to be the old song which all quilters love when I named this pattern "Glitter."

She suggested that the center square be made of blue and white print, or polka dots. Then the background could be of a plain blue and the stars of white. This would not mean that the colors were as dark as shown in the picture. Then sew the squares to each other so dark to give contrast to the pattern. WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Arlen Leeds, 21, leaves her Ruxton, Md., home after her father's marriage to a pretty young widow. She is incensed. What incenses Arlen most is knowing her stepmother Karen is spending the money her infant son got in inheritance from his mother.

Arlen drives to Ocean City to visit her mother.

There she meets the new widow, Mrs. Alice.

Alice is a lawyer.

Arlen is piqued that he treats her in a frank, almost brotherly, manner.

She tells him of her father's foolish ways.

Arlen asks her to consider the conditions at home, he suggests that he writes to his sister Louise in New York.
